Eighteen amateur photographers were honored June 13 by the West Sacramento City Council for outstanding achievement in the "15 Days in May" photo contest. Over 250 photos had been submitted in the contest's six entry categories. First-place winners received $500 cash prizes, while second-place winners received $250 and third-place honorees received $100 each.

Winners in the "under 18" category for West Sacramento residents were (in order of finish) Justin Hunt, Lance Sims and Amy Saeteurn.

Winning the "18-55" age category were (in order) Paula Tapia, Cristina P. Gozon and Reid Collins.

In the "over 55) category for locals, Pat Anderson, Loretta Robben-Pinto and Stan Rommel took first, second and third, respectively.

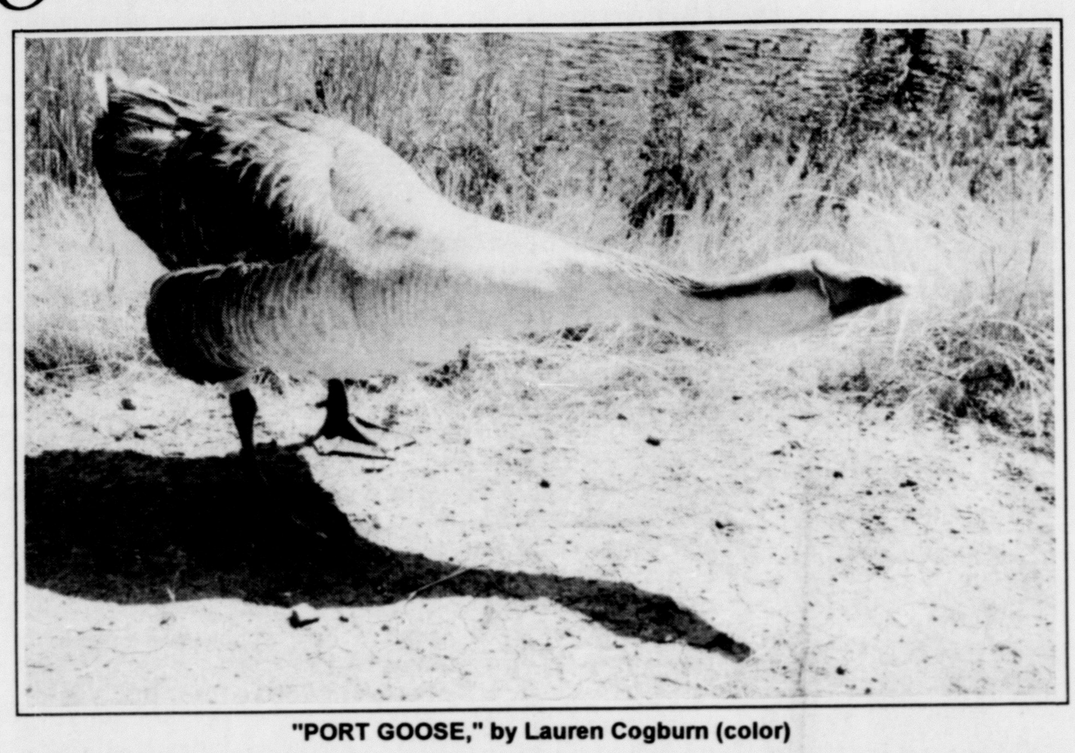

In the "nonresident" category, winners (in order of finish) were Chris Augustino of Monte Sereno, Bob Medley of Sacramento, and Leland Wong of Davis.

The contest offered a photo category called "Working in West Sacramento." Winners were Lauren Cogburn, the Port of Sacramento; Debbie Reichling, the city of Sacramento; and Senh Saelee, Senh-Station Design and the city planning commission, who took the honors in that order.

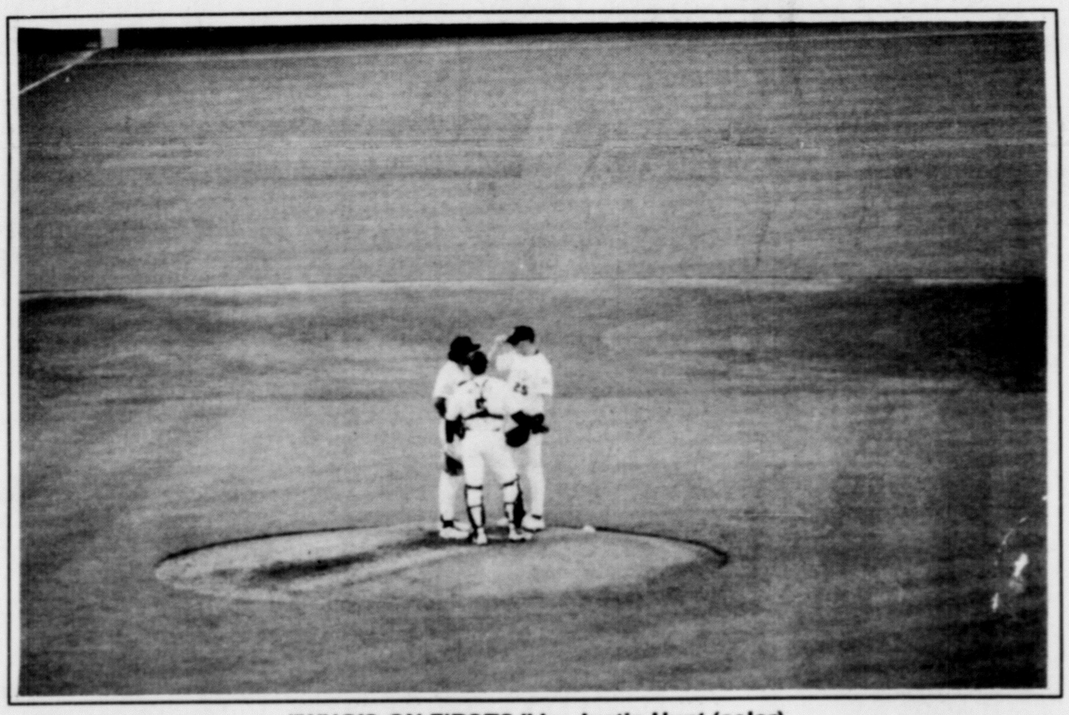

A category for college photo students was topped by (in order of finish) Meghan Wagner of Sacramento City College, Allan Snorgrass of Cosumnes River College and Kate Pastoor of UC Davis.

The number of photo entries received this year, the contest's third year, increased by 25 percent over last year. The category with the largest number of participants was the "Residents, 18-55" category, with one-third of the contest's total entries.

The contest was sponsored by the City of West Sacramento in association with the News-Ledger, West Sacramento Press and Carwen Printers. Participants were allowed to choose the subject for their photos, as long as West Sacramento served as the location of the photo and that photo was taken during the contest dates of May 1 and 15.

Top photos will be displayed at the city's Web site (www.ci.west-sacramento.ca.us) and on local displays throughout the year.

Helmold honored for advocacy on local health issues

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

(Information from CommuniCare Health Centers contributed to this article)

A West Sacramento woman is among one of two people honored for health-related community service in Yolo County this year. The John H. Jones Public Service Award and the Ada Merhoff Award will be presented tonight at a Woodland reception by the Yolo County Health Council and the Sierra Sacramento Valley Medical Society.

Helena Helmold, director of the East Yolo Information Center for Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse in West Sacramento, will receive the Ada Merhoff award. Helmold has helped find ways to provide food, shelter, counseling and health care services for people recovering from drug abuse problems. She is described by the award committee as a "tireless advocate for the life, health, and well-being of the most vulnerable and economically needy citizens."

Helmold is an organizer of the West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project and has served with the Salud Clinic Advisory Clinic, the West Sacramento Resource Center, and the Chamber of Commerce.

"This is not a 'me' award, this is a 'we' award," Helmold told the News-Ledger. It takes a tremendous amount of people in this kind of work. I've asked the other people (on the team) to join me at the award reception."

HELENA HELMOLD, working as chairman of last year's Christmas Basket Project, gathering holiday food for needy local residents

Helmold added that working with the clientele of struggling, recovering addicts "can get discouraging" unless you have a lot of support, as she does.

The annual Ada Merhoff Award was created in 1993 to honor a longtime Yolo County volunteer and activist.

Winning this year's John H. Jones Public Service Award is Barbara Boehler, a longtime midwife at the Davis Free Clinic. She has shown a great deal of "loyalty to working with low income and non-English speaking families" and seen that "families without insurance have always had the very best medicine has to offer."

The John H. Jones Public Service Award is named after the founder of the Davis Free Clinic.

Funds for Yolo shelter

Assemblywoman Helen Thomson (D-Davis) announced last week that the Yolo Wayfarer Center will receive $83,244 in funding from the state Emergency Housing and Assistance Program to provide shelter for the homeless.

The program attempts to encourage movement of the homeless from shelters to a self-supporting environment, by pairing shelter with counseling, substance abuse treatment and job training. The program will award approximately $14 million this year statewide.

"The key to resolving homelessness is helping individuals help themselves achieve economic and social independence," said Thomson. "The Yolo Wayfarer Center received this funding because of their demonstrated ability to effectively deliver shelter services to the homeless and their ability to help the homeless obtain stable employment and permanent housing."

For more information on the Yolo Wayfarer Center, call D. Scott Thurmond at (530) 661-1218.

Local cops carry torch in fundraiser for area Special Olympics athletes

Police Department

West Sacramento police personnel helped in the Law Enforcenent Torch Run to support the Special Olympics Northern California Summer Games this year.

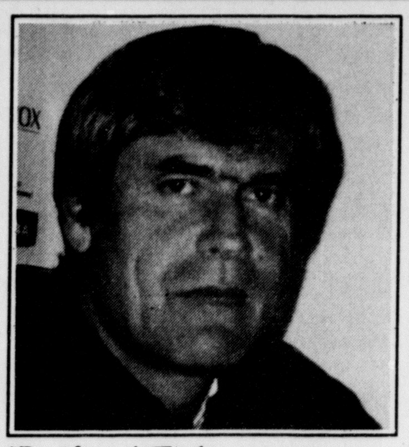

The event started on the west steps of the state capitol, with speakers including Lt. David Farmer of the W.S.P.D.

Relay runners ran the Special Olympics torch from the Capitol steps across the Tower Bridge to West Sacramento, where the initial runners were met by West Sacramento's Sergeant Allan Conwell, Detective Thomas Maggiano, Officer Daniel Duchene and Code Enforcement Officer Kathy Hill for a seven-mile leg of the run. Other runners accompanied them from 3rd St. to West Capitol and westbound I-80, along the bike trail into Davis. The Davis police department then took over the torch.

West Sacramento has a Special Olympics team that competes in basketball, track, softball and bowling, with a volleyball team soon to start. Nor Cal games start June 8 in Stockton.

Kids don't realize their parents are 'Forever Young'

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

One of my sons has recently taken to calling me by an assortment of nicknames. Among his favorites are: the old dude, the old fogie, the old duffer, and the old geezer. As I'm sure you can see, the operative word here seems to be OLD. Now, being a mature adult who would never let a little name-calling bother me, I tactfully (and without even raising my voice) informed him the other night that if he doesn't knock it off, and soon, he's going to end up homeless.

"You sure are touchy on the subject of becoming ancient, aren't you, Dad?" he asked me the other night with that rub-it-in smile he inherited from his mother. And before I could answer (or take a swing at him) he strutted off into his bedroom and turned up the volume on his favorite music station.

"I hate that music!" I screamed after him.

"I know," he yelled back, turning the volume up another notch. "And you want to know why you hate it?"

"Why?"

"Because you're a old geezer!"

"Easy, Dad, easy," said my daughter as she rushed to my aid, took me gently by the hand, and led me off to my rocking chair.

"I don't know what's worse when it comes to that brother of yours," I said to her, "that attitude of his or that god-awful music he is always playing."

"He's just going through a stage," my daughter assured me as she helped me into my chair, kissed me on the top of the head, handed me the television clicker, and added, "And by the way, Dad, YOU ARE AN OLD GEEZER!"

I gave some serious thought to throwing the T.V. clicker at her as she scampered away laughing, but knowing that the quality of my life would radically change for the worse if anything should ever happen to the T.V. remote control, I simply yelled, "You'll be over 50-years-old someday, too, you know, and don't expect any sympathy from me!"

For the next hour or so, I just rocked back and forth in my chair, mumbling to myself, "You're too young to be this darn old", or words to that effect. I was even too depressed to click on the evening reruns of Frazier and Friends.

Just how in the world did this aging thing happen, I asked myself. I mean, it seems like it was only yesterday that I was trotting out under a beautiful high sky onto the James Marshall High School baseball diamond with Billy Nichols, John Domasky, Richie Yancey, Mike Crumley and the rest of my West Sacramento teammates to take on the Woodland Wolves for the 1965 league championship. And it seems like it was just the day before yesterday that I was riding around on my bicycle delivering the Sacramento Bee to most of the houses on Michigan Boulevard, Laurel Lane and Rockrose Road, trying as hard as I could to save up enough money to be able to buy my own car (which turned out to be an old 1953 Chevy) the day I turned sixteen.

"Hey, just what to you think you're doing?" suddenly asked my son as he stuck his head out of his room to demand that I turn down the volume on the stereo I had just turned on.

"I'm going to drown out that radio of yours with some real music," I informed him.

"No, Dad, no!" he pleaded. "Please, not the Bob Dylan albums!"

"And you can consider this next one a little present from me to you," I said as I picked up the needle and gently dropped it down on the following song, entitled "Forever Young", the lyrics of which I have always loved and go like this:

May God bless and keep you always
May your wishes all come true
May you grow up to be righteous
May you grow up to be true
May you always do for others
And let others do for you
May you always know the truth
And see the light that surrounds you
May you build a ladder to the stars
And climb on every rung
May you always be courageous
And stand up and be strong
May your hands always be busy
May your feet always be swift
May you have a strong foundation
When the winds of changes shift
May you always be joyful
May your song always be sung
And may you stay...
Forever young.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The NBA basketball season has come and gone with the Los Angeles Lakers leaving a trail of demoralized professional basketball teams. The Los Angeles Lakers are back-to-back NBA Champions. The Shaq and Kobe show was just too much for the league playoff teams to handle.

Shaq was crowned the MVP of the playoffs with his dominating performance at center while Kobe was just Kobe. The Lakers set a NBA record with their 15-1 postseason record. The NBA season is official over with the Lakers and the Shaq and Kobe show talking about a "Three-Peat".

The San Francisco Giants (37-32) swept a three game series over their bay area rivals the Oakland A's, to celebrate there best home stand in Pac Bell history. This Fathers Day weekend the Giants posted their first unbeaten home stand at Pac Bell, surpassing two 6-1 home stands in 2000, the stadiums inaugural year. The Giants will be on the road this week to play a three game set against San Diego before they travel to St. Louis for a weekend battle against Mark McGwire and the Cardinals. The Giants next home game will be June 25th against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The A's (33-35) are hosting the division leading Seattle Mariners this week in a mid-season four game series that is crucial if they hope to gain any ground on the Mariners 19 game lead. Somebody has to beat the Mariners, who have already won 52 games this season.

In another baseball note 41 year old Cal Ripken Jr. announced his retirement. Ripken broke Lou Gehrig's record of 2,130 consecutive games played on Sept. 6, 1995, and extended the streak to 2,632 straight games before ending the streak on Sept. 20, 1998. Ripken's career statistics include 3,107 hits, 594 doubles, 44 triples, 421 home runs, 1,652 RBI and a career batting average of .276. You can catch Ripken's final active tour on September 3, 2001 when Baltimore visits Oakland for a three game series.

The River Cats are on the road this week in Fresno for a quick 4 game set that started on Monday night with Fresno beating the Cats 13-1. The two teams almost when to blows after exchanging hit batters in the Fresno rout. The Gatos will return to the friendly confines of Raley Field on Friday night against the same Fresno squad to return the favor in another four game series. These eight games between the Grizzlies and the Cats will determine the PCL South Division leader. The Fresno Grizzlies are the San Francisco Giants Triple-A farm club. Tickets are available by visiting the Raley Field Box Office or by calling (916) 766-2277.

The United States World Cup soccer team battled the Jamaican National team to a 0-0 tie last Saturday in Jamaica to hold on to their regional lead to qualify for the 2002 World Cup in Japan/Korea. The Jamaican's unbeaten streak of 51 games remained in tact but the U.S. dominated the contest from the beginning to the end and missed a couple scoring opportunities late in the game to put a scare in the Reggae Boys. The USA will play another qualifier in less than 5 days against Trinidad and Tobago (ESPN2 ? 4:30p.m.) in Foxboro, Mass. on Wednesday, June 20.

The Mexican National teams continues to struggle as Mexico (1-2-1, four points) was sunk by an 87th-minute goal from Costa Rican veteran Hernan Medford and dropped to fifth place in the six-team region, losing 2-1 Saturday. It was the first home loss for the Mexicans in 20 years. Mexico, still reeling from its dismal performance at the Confederations Cup in Japan, where they lost all three games. Mexico and the United States will square off in Mexico City on July 1 in a must-win for the Mexicans.

See ya next week!

LEGAL NOTICE

"The Yolo County Board of Supervisors will be conducting two public hearings on Tuesday, June 26, and on Tuesday, July 10, 2001 to consider adjusting the boundaries of any or all of the five Yolo County supervisorial districts. Each hearing is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m. and will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chambers in the Erwin Meier Administration Center located at 625 Court Street in Woodland, California.

In considering adjustment of these supervisorial districts, State law requires that the Board shall adjust the boundaries of any or all of the supervisorial districts of the County so that the districts shall be as nearly equal in population as may be. The Board is also required under State law to comply with the applicable provisions of Section 1973 of Title 42 of the United States Code, as amended. In establishing the boundaries of the districts, the Board may give consideration to the following factors: (a) topography, (b) geography, (c) cohesiveness, integrity and compactness of territory, and (d) community of interests of the districts. IN all other respects, the Board intends to carefully observe the requirements of State and Federal laws regarding redistricting.

A Redistricting Committee was established in February of this year by the Board and has met on several occasions to study the matter of changing the boundaries of the supervisorial districts. A report of this Committee will be considered by the Board at the June 26 and July 10 hearings. The Board may choose to adopt one of the five recommendations prepared by this Committee for Board consideration or the Board may determine to make different adjustments to any or all of the supervisorial district boundaries. Beginning June 15, a copy of the report of the Redistricting Committee, with the five Committee proposed maps depicting the Committee's recommendations, will be available for public review at the offices of the Clerk of the Board located at 625 Court Street, Room 204 in Woodland and at the offices of the Yolo County Planning and Public Works Department located at 292 W. Beamer in Woodland, CA. The report, without the five Committee proposed maps depicting the Committee's recommendations, may also be reviewed as part of the agenda packet available through the County website at www.yolocounty.org.

A Categorical Exemption has been prepared for this project in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and CEQA Guidelines and will also be considered by the Board for approval. A copy of this Exemption is also available for review at the offices of the Clerk of the Board and at the offices of the Yolo County Planning and Public Works Department located at 292 W. Beamer in Woodland, CA.

Written comments on adjustment of the supervisorial boundaries are invited and should be addressed to David Morrison, Assistant Director, Planning and Public Works Department, 292 W. Beamer, Woodland, CA 95695. These written comments should be received no later than 5:00 p.m. on June 25, 2001. At the hearing, oral comments from interested members of the public will be invited and considered."

AMERICANS IN ACTION

Charity Begins At Work

by Don Sodo

(NAPS)—It may surprise some people to hear they can make a difference in the world by doing little more than going to work everyday. That's because workplace giving campaigns are making it easier than ever for people to support causes close to their hearts.

In fact, it's estimated that in the year 2000, nearly 2 billion dollars were raised through these campaigns, benefitting a variety of charities nationwide.

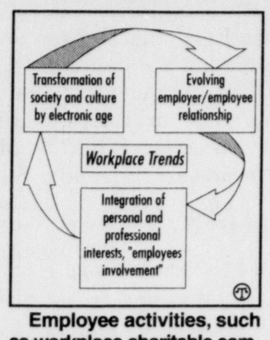

Charities and the people they help, however, are not the only ones who benefit from the campaigns. Experts say giving in the work place can raise employee morale, increase productivity and benefit a company as a whole.

Studies show that given the choice, employees would prefer to work for a company that supports charitable causes. Furthermore, workers who have a say in what charitable groups their companies support tend to report high levels of satisfaction. Recent surveys report as many as 70 percent of employees prefer a broader choice when giving to charity.

As a result, many businesses now strengthen their relationship with their employees and communities through charitable options tailored to workers' individual preferences.

To help customize their giving programs, companies often turn to groups like America's Charities—a group of about 100 organizations, including Make-A-Wish Foundation of America, America's Second Harvest, NAACP, Ronald McDonald House and many more of the nation's best-known charities.

Employers can work with America's Charities to set up charitable giving programs—similar to benefit packages—that can help keep current employees happy, attract prospective workers and may do wonders for a company's public image. Such workplace campaigns can help enhance company branding as well.

For example, the Sears "You Can Make A Difference" campaign offers employees the opportunity to give under a brand developed expressly to carry the message of the company's charitable endeavors to its employees and community. American Airlines, Fidelity, and many other companies are positioned similarly.

Once a program is created, America's Charities helps companies administer their charitable campaigns or can handle the entire process on its own. Also, the group provides an online tool that lets employers run campaigns from their desktops.

America's Charities can help companies maintai. employee morale, raise productivity and benefit their communities—for many American businesses, that's the real bottom line. For more information visit www.charities.org.

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

10 Ways To Find The Fat In Your Budget

by Mary Rowland, MSN MoneyCentral Expert in Mutual Funds & Financial Planning

(NAPS)—Finding the fat in your budget may not sound sexy, but try visualizing the new, svelte you—financially speaking. In just a few years, it's possible to change your lifestyle for the better by simply adhering to a few budgetary constraints. Here are my top 10 ways to trim up your budget:

1. Focus on fixed expenses: Just because they're "fixed," it doesn't mean they're not negotiable. Many items are fixed only in that they come out of your paycheck every month, or you write checks for them automatically—like rent and life insurance.

2. Rent or mortgage: Your home is your castle, but can you afford the one you have? Moving is not something you're going to do tomorrow, but if your castle is eating up more than 25 percent of your income, start making long-term plans.

3. Utilities: Turn down the heat and air conditioning. Analyze your phone needs. Do you need so many lines? Is your cell phone essential?

4. Insurance: If your term life insurance policy is five or more years old, you're in for a pleasant surprise: you can almost certainly get a better rate. Increase the deductibles on your auto and homeowner's policies, and drop collision insurance if your car is paid for. Don't skip disability insurance, though. If you can't work due to a disability, you could jeopardize everything without insurance.

5. Groceries: Is there really that much of a difference between generic and name brand products? Do you really enjoy the prepared foods you buy? Could you make something fresh and simple—and cheaper?

6. Clothing: What can we say? The biggest enemy of a clothing budget is impulse. You need a strategy. Make a list of what you need. Shop from your list. Buy the best you can afford. Think about all the stuff hanging in your closet.

With a little work, it can be easy to whip your budget into shape.

7. Transportation: This item can eat up 50 percent of a budget. Take a hard look at where you can save. Set a budget for transportation. Negotiate for bargain air fares. Cars are better made and last much longer than they used to. Get one you like. Take good care of it—and keep it two or three years longer. Walk instead of taking a cab.

8. Household and babysitting help: It's tough cutting corners here. If you've found a good caretaker for your children, don't cut his or her pay. Supportive people to help in your business and home can make your life run much more smoothly.

9. Credit: This one has a lot of opportunities for reductions. Pick up two months' worth of credit card bills and total up the interest you paid. If you pay off your credit cards, you will save that much every month.

10. Taxes: Contribute to your 401(k) and make use of healthcare and dependent care spending accounts at work.

So look at discretionary expenses to see what you can do. Think of positive lifestyle changes. Vacations, too, can be thrilling without being costly if you do some research and plan a trip that allows you to explore and further an interest. You can find the fat in your budget—it just takes a little creativity and willingness on your part.

Letters to the Editor

In support of Barcenas

When I picked up the News-Ledger last week I couldn't believe what I read. Officer Juan Barcenas is a wonderful person. No one knows how devastating this "misinterpret" complaint is until they have had it in their family. I know, it happened to my family.

This is the thanks you get to try and help our kids of today. If she was uncomfortable why didn't she stay away from him? Isn't it funny only one complaint?

Officer Juan Barcenas has lived 20 years next to my daughter and you couldn't ask for a better neighbor.

It's a terrible injustice when one 16-year-old unproven accusation can ruin a person's reputation. Accusations such as this should be proven before a reputation is ruined, because even if proven innocent he will always be remembered for this incident.

Thanks from Coons family

Our family would like to express our thanks and appreciation for everything the V.F.W. Post #9498, the Loyal Order of the Moose, and the Wandering Campers Club did for us during our time of grief. All the food, flowers and cards were greatly appreciated.

To all of George's friends, thank you so much! Friendship touches the heart.

We would also like to thank the West Sacramento Fire Department and ambulance crew for their care and concern during this trying time.

THE FAMILY OF GEORGE W. COONS SR.

Is your hamster/mouse safe?

I provided a succession of hamsters with well-ventilated, spacious cages where they enjoyed climbing, treadmills, wholesome food, regular cage cleanings and frequent out-of-cage time. Nevertheless, they all died far short of a normal life span.

I have since learned that softwood shavings, particularly cedar and pine, have been linked to respiratory, liver and skins diseases in animals constantly exposed to them. Even most animal research laboratories, even though they often do horrible things to animals, avoid softwood shavings, but people who are devoted to their pets are largely uninformed.

My mice are now doing well with a non-toxic bedding made from reclaimed wood pulp waste. They also like soft tissue paper. Other safe beddings include those made from pressed paper pellets, alfalfa, grain by-products, aspen, straw, or recycled newspaper printed with soy ink (regular print can be harmful).

I urge all small animal owners to make sure their pets have bedding which is safe for them.

Energy saving ideas

At the June 13 City Council meeting we were entertained royally by the entrants to the West Sac photo contest and presentations of prizes.

The other agenda item I recall most vividly was the presentation by the Sacramento Tree Foundation. It was timely in that besides the story of how the many trees (over a million) that transformed the Sacramento area from a desert to a more livable area, we were also advised as other ways to keep cooler and save energy.

Lighter colored buildings, including even reflective roofs were encouraged. Plain dark asphalt parking lots seem to absorb and reflect the most heat on hot days. (How about a lighter colored asphalt equivalent?) To cool such lots, it would seem advisable to plant trees surrounded by their own flower beds, even if such beds contained merely wood chips and a proper watering system.

Homes of the future should also include wheelchair accessibility and at least one "man-sized toilet", too. Businesses and government buildings seem to be covered already by this feature of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Meanwhile we should work for re-regulation of natural gas and electricity.

Not a fan of Gov. Davis

Boy oh boy! Ole "S. David" (Freeman) sure carried an awful lof "Gray Water" in that simulcast town meeting about power last week, now didn't he? He seems to know which side his bread is buttered on, or, to dance with the one what brung ya, etc. We'll see if he runs true to form (as most prostitutes do), or if he stays bought. He, in speaking of the governor, also seems quite content to have us (the little people) do with less. Maybe we little people need a little lead by example demonstration. How about ole S. Dave becomes a dollar a year man, along with those two high flacks old "Gray Boy" hired that are making $30,000 a month apiece of our tax money? Now that would give us an incentive to scrimp, save, and conserve power, wouldn't it?

I know how to greatly increase our power supply with a renewable, reusable resource: But it'll cost ya. (Amazing what one can learn from such public figures as the ones previously mentioned, isn't it?)
